

Hawks Fatally Hurt in Crash

Speed Flier and Companion Meet Death in Plane Accident
WAS WORLD FAMOUS
Witnesses Say Airship Struck Wires, Burst Into Flames

Buffalo, N. Y.—(P)—Death came last night to Lieutenant Commander Frank M. Hawks, world famous speed flier, as he had predicted—in an airplane.

The 41-year old aviator who turned a year ago from speed flying to the aviation business, struck some wires and crashed in flames on a polo field a few miles from Buffalo.

Hawks, who told a friend some years ago "I expect to die in an airplane," and J. Hazard Campbell, upstate socialist and sportsman who had accepted an invitation for a trial spin in a small plane Hawks company sells, were fatally injured.

Horror-stricken friends, who had watched the take-off from the small field, heard the plane crash behind a clump of trees. They saw a flash as flame shot high in the air.

Drag Men Out
They pulled Hawks from the controls of the blazing ship and dragged Campbell from beneath a crumpled wing. The injured men were taken to a Buffalo hospital in ambulances. Neither regained consciousness.

Hawks was flying a small Gwinn Aircair, a plane designed for private flying. He carried a four leaf clover a friend had given him for "good luck" a few minutes before the takeoff.

Edmund P. Rogers, from whose estate Hawks and Campbell took off, described the crash:

"Commander Hawks landed on our field about 5 p. m. and offered to take myself or any of our guests for a ride. Campbell climbed in first.

"The plane lifted in the air and Hawks tilted it 50 feet above the ground to enable it to pass between two tall trees. As he passed out of sight it looked as though he had not been able to gain sufficient altitude and was trying to bring the plane down.

"Just as the plane disappeared we heard a loud crash and a flash of flame shot up behind the trees. We knew he had struck the electric wires and telephone poles.

Clothes On Fire
"We ran to the plane and found Hawks inside the burning machine on fire so we stepped him and pulled him away.

Rogers said Campbell was thrown from the plane and pinned under a crumpled and blazing wing.

The crash ripped down all telephone and light wires serving the community and Rogers and his friends had to go several miles to summon aid.

M. R. Carlin, a transport pilot of New York city and flown to Buffalo to with Hawks in the small plane.

"He said he'd rather fly one of these than any other plane," Carlin said. "He had given up all other pilot ratings but the one he used on the Aircair."

Hawks was vice president in charge of sales for the Gwinn Aircair corporation.

Joseph M. Gwinn, president, said Hawks had been making demonstration flights for the company during the past year.

Set Speed Records
Hawks established himself as one of the nation's greatest speed pilots about 10 years ago, when he set a

Church Pickets Still Oppose Transfer Order
Vulcan, Mich.—(P)—Men and women parishioners, apportioned their three 8-hour shifts, doggedly continued their picketing on the St. Barbara's Catholic church grounds here today in protest against the ordered transfer of their pastor, the Rev. Simon Borkowski.

Picketing began 11 days ago when members of the congregation refused to permit Father Borkowski to leave in compliance with an order recalling him to the Salvatorian seminary at St. Nazianz, Wis.

The priest had been "loaned" to the parish 15 years ago.

SWING IT!

For the benefit of all you "interbuses" whose feet are tingling to the tune of "Ah, So Pure" from the opera "Martha," here's a little enlightenment on the subject.

"Martha" was written by Friedrich Von Flotow in 1844 and was originally sung in Italian, although it finally reached America in 1882 in Flotow's native language, the German. Now, most any radio can be dialed to produce the tender strains of "Ah, So Pure." So tender perhaps, but Ah! So not.

You'll feel like swinging it when you advertise your rooms for rent in The Post-Crescent. Results come oh, so quickly and at such low cost.

Tammany Leader Explodes During Conspiracy Trial

Hines Disrupts Court. Challenges Testimony Of Witness

New York—(P)—In a dramatic outburst, James J. (Jimmy) Hines, 61-year-old Tammany district leader, leaped to his feet in supreme court today and personally challenged the testimony of George Weinberg, 36, ex-convict and one-time business manager of the multi-million dollar Dutch Schultz policy racket.

Under a loud cross-examination by Chief Defense Counsel Lloyd Stryker, Weinberg was questioned about alleged visits he paid to Hines during the early summer of 1932 to pay Hines "protection" money for the Schultz mob.

"Mr. Weinberg," Stryker shouted, "don't you know Mr. Hines didn't move into that apartment at 44 Central Park west before October, 1932?"

Weinberg gulped.

"Look the defendant in the eye," Stryker commanded. "Now, repeat your testimony. Did you visit him during the summer of 1932?"

"Yes," Weinberg said.

At that moment, Hines jumped up.

"You know you didn't," he snapped.

Stryker commanded, "Now, repeat your testimony. Did you visit him during the summer of 1932?"

"Yes," Weinberg said.

At that moment, Hines jumped up.

New York—(P)—George Weinberg, 36, an ex-convict, and the state's star witness thus far in the conspiracy trial of Tammany District Leader James J. Hines, testified today that in October, 1932, Dutch Schultz ordered him to help Hines, elected William J. Coughlin as district attorney of Manhattan.

Dodge, a Tammany man, was elected. He has been accused by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of having been "intimidated, influenced or bribed" by Hines.

"Dutch Schultz told me to help Jimmy Hines with money and to get the policy-gang crowd behind him," Weinberg testified.

Weinberg testified that he met Dodge in the office of Hines' lawyer, Joseph Shalleck, and that after Hines had introduced him to Dodge as one of "Dutch Schultz's boys," he passed $3,000 to Hines as the Schultz mob's contribution to Dodge's campaign fund.

He said Dodge "grinned" as the money was passed to Hines.

"We gave him other money for the election of Dodge," the witness continued.

"How much?" snapped Dewey.

"All told, about $30,000," the former Schultz henchman replied.

The warden said the men were taken into custody by 21 wardens who conducted a drive in the northern Wisconsin woods country. All of the cases have been brought before a tribunal and most of the men were assessed heavy fines, he said.

Johnson reported he saw many deer. The percentage was about three bucks to one doe.

Cleveland Police Have 'Real Clue' In Torso Killings

Detectives Question Eight Men. One Woman in 3-Year-Old Mystery

Cleveland—(P)—Detectives questioned eight men and a woman today after police followed the trail of a tattered quilt, prime clue in Cleveland's twelve "torso killings," to a rag shop only two blocks from a field where a woman's dissected body was found nearly three years ago.

Detectives under Sergeant James McDonald descended on the rag shop after a junk collector, Elmer Jennings, 56, told them he had disposed of the quilt, found wrapped about the torso of the eleventh victim, at the shop five weeks ago.

"Only Real Clue"
Police Inspector Charles O. Nevel, who said the quilt was "the only real clue" in the three-year-old mystery, hoped one of the nine would shed light on the person who wrapped the quilt around the fifth woman to die in the bizarre series of killings.

The rag shop where the junk man disposed of the quilt is but two blocks from the field where the dissected body of Mrs. Florence Polillo, 42, victim No. 3, was found in January, 1935. Her head was never found. Parts of her body had been placed in baskets.

Police sought out the junk man after Charles Damp, a barber, told of giving the quilt some clothing to a junk collector last month.

Adjoin Hearing in North Shore Dispute

Chicago—(P)—A national labor relations board hearing to determine bargaining representatives for striking Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee railroad employees was adjourned today until tomorrow.

Harry E. Scheck, federal department of labor conciliator, requested the adjournment so that he could continue conferences with interested parties looking toward resumption of service on the electric line between Chicago and Milwaukee.

Service was halted Aug. 16 after union employees voted to quit work rather than accept a 15 per cent wage cut the railroad said was necessary.

Publicity Campaign Will Spread 'Sales Mean Jobs' Cry Throughout Appleton

BY DON ANDERSON
A publicity campaign that will carry the "Sales Mean Jobs" cry in to every corner of the city, generate enthusiasm for the crusade, and draw eager thousands to the big Pierce park rally was launched by the publicity committee for the crusade today.

To catch the attention of every citizen—for every citizen is affected by the rise or fall of sales—the committee has mapped a program that calls for widespread "Sales Mean Jobs" publicity in newspaper stories and pictures, radio broadcasts, announcements at churches and service clubs, and through the mediums of pennants, stickers, and badges.

A nationally known speaker will deliver the "Sales Mean Jobs" message at the Pierce park rally. His talk will be the high light of the program, but by no means the only feature.

High class acts, humor, and music will entertain the crowd and give to the rally the informal, good natured atmosphere of a celebration, entirely in keeping with the crusade's principal objective—the restoration of hope and confidence in the consumer so he will set out to buy the things he so sorely needs.

Banish Worry
It is the banishing of worry and engendering of new optimism in the consumer, the releasing of his self-imprisoned purchasing power that the crusade hopes to accomplish. It is the stimulation of salesmen so they will open up a new and highly effective offensive that the "Sales Mean Jobs" cause has as one of its principal objectives.

Thousands of "Sales Mean Jobs" pennants soon will appear in stores and other business places in Appleton. The slogan will appear on cars.

Marshal Probes $3,500 Farm Fire

Bundle of Matches Found After Blaze Destroys Hay-Filled Barn

W. E. Finnegan, district fire marshal, today was investigating circumstances surrounding a fire that destroyed the large barn at the Fred Hoffman farm, Route 2, West DePere, in the town of Oneida, yesterday noon.

Fire broke out in a straw stack near the barn while Hoffman was threshing and caused damage estimated at $3,500. The barn, filled with a crop of hay and 1,600 bushels of grain, was destroyed.

The Seymour fire department answered the alarm with the Seymour-Oshkosh rural fire truck, but the blaze had gained so much headway that efforts were confined to saving the farm home and other buildings. Hoffman told Sheriff John Lappen, who was called, that he found a small bundle of matches tied together in the shocks. Lappen investigated further and found what may be several important clues. Marshal Finnegan was notified and the investigation was underway today.

Japanese Prepare to Intensify Campaign

Shanghai—(P)—Japanese poured reinforcements into the Kiangsu district today, preliminary to intensifying their campaign against Shanghai, 100 miles south of Hankow.

Chinese reports maintained the invaders were giving up as a bad job their attempts to reach Hankow, the provisional Chinese capital, by an offensive on the north bank of the Yangtze river with Kiangsu as the starting point.

The Chinese dispatches said the Japanese consequently withdrew from Wangmeng, 25 miles due north of Kiangsu and 110 miles south-east of Hankow, and were moving eastward.

Neutral observers believed, however, that the Japanese were not likely to release pressure on the Yangtze north shore unless Yangtze floods now falling, increased.

Hold Private Hearing In Un-American Probe

New York—(P)—A sub-committee of the house committee investigating Un-American activities held a private hearing here today to inquire into what one of its members described as "an important matter" but did not disclose its nature.

"It would be dangerous to disclose anything now," said Representative J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, a member of the sub-committee. "When we have developed this matter we will have public hearings, as we did in Washington. If it does not amount to anything, we will never say anything about it."

Tokio—(P)—The Tokyo district's worst aviation disaster took 14 lives today and injured about 150 persons.

14 Killed or Wounded After Airliner Is Forced to Land

ALIGHTED ON RIVER
Officials Believe Diplomat May Have Been Target

Hongkong—(P)—The American pilot of a Chinese airliner reported today that Japanese warplanes had forced him to set his plane down near Canton and then machine-gunned it, killing or wounding at least 14 of the 17 persons aboard.

H. L. Woods, of Hays, Kansas, the pilot, reached Macao unhurt. All others on the plane were Chinese.

The forced landing was made on a small river between Canton and Cacao, Portuguese colony 30 miles to the south.

Woods sent this message to the China National Aviation corporation, owners of the plane.

"Landed on river okay. Japanese machine-gunned us, killing or wounding 12 passengers, also co-pilot and steward. Radio operator Loh, one passenger and myself survived. Other 11 unaccounted for. Ship sunk in river."

Other reports said C. N. Lou, the Chinese passenger who reached Macao with Woods also had a bullet wound and was rushed to a hospital for an operation.

Earlier it was reported that some of the passengers had disappeared when they fled for safety in the fields.

The airliner encountered the Japanese planes southwest of Canton while it was flying from Hongkong to Wuchow, in Kwangsi province, enroute to Chungking, present seat of civilian branches of the Chinese government.

Officials of the C. N. A. C. said the Japanese probably thought one of the passengers was Dr. Sun Fo, head of the legislative council of China, just returned from Europe, where he tried to enlist soviet Russia, British and other foreign aid for China's fight against Japan. He had made reservations but cancelled them.

Search for Survivors
A British gunboat and Chinese troops set out from Canton to search for any further survivors of the attack.

The airliner left Hongkong at 8:05 a. m. and 30 minutes later Woods radioed: "Japanese planes chasing us." Only three minutes later this message was received.

"Forced land river. All safe." No further word was received from Woods until he reached Macao.

A C. N. A. C. official said:

"There is no doubt that the attack was entirely unprovoked. The plane was clearly marked and was on a regularly scheduled run."

"The assumption is that the pilot landed in shallow water with his wheels partly up as the only way to protect the passengers."

"There is no information as to how many Japanese planes participated in forcing the transport down."

It was disclosed that Dr. Sun, changing his plans overnight, went to Hankow, China's military capital, instead of Chungking.

Milwaukee Road Head Succumbs

Illness Is Fatal to Patrick H. Nee, General Superintendent

Milwaukee—(P)—Patrick H. Nee, general superintendent of the Milwaukee Road, died today after an illness of two weeks. He was 62 years old.

Nee was taken to a hospital two weeks ago. He was operated on a week ago for the removal of his appendix. Complications developed.

Nee, a Milwaukee Road employee for 45 years, came to Milwaukee as general superintendent of the middle western district Feb. 1, 1937.

Previous to his promotion he was divisional superintendent with headquarters at Miles City, Mont.

He was divisional superintendent from 1918 to 1925, and later served in a similar capacity at Aberdeen, S. D., Ottumwa, Iowa, and Spokane, Wash.

He is survived by his widow, a son and a daughter.

Funeral services will be conducted in Wausau Friday morning.

50,000 Want Wage-Hour Jobs but Only One Has Been Hired So Far

Washington—(P)—Fifty thousand persons have applied for jobs in the government's new wage-hour bureau, but so far Administrator Elmer F. Andrews has only one employee, comedy Miss Eugenia Pore.

She is his secretary, and at present she's the busiest secretary in Washington. Two months from today, when the wage-hour program goes into effect, there will be upwards of 1,000 employees.

Andrews and Miss Pore do not have a permanent office yet. They are housed temporarily in two rooms of the labor department, where leaders of industry and labor, government officials, and private citizens pass in and out all day.

Government Lines Give Ground After Repeated Attacks

Loyalist Dispatches Concede Rebel Gains in Two Sectors

Hendaye, France—(At the Spanish Frontier)—(P)—Government lines slowly gave ground today under repeated hammer blows by insurgent shock troops on the Ebro river front in eastern Spain and along the Tagus river in the west.

Official government dispatches conceded insurgent gains in both sectors as insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's general offensive began to develop full vigor.

On the Tagus front insurgents reported conquering 300 square miles in the past three days with an advance reaching a depth of 13 miles at some points. This sector is about 90 miles southwest of Madrid.

Control Highway
Insurgent dispatches said the veteran Andros Soliquet controlled the 50 miles of twisting highway between El Puente del Arzobispo, 31 air miles due west of Toledo, and Puerto Llanito to the south by capturing Puerto de San Vicente, central point on the road.

Government officials insisted, however, the strategic center of La Nava de Ricomalilla still was in their hands, giving them control of vital communication lines to the rear.

Insurgents were said since Sunday to have occupied six miles of the Talavera-Merida highway between La Nava de Ricomalilla and Campillo and to have pushed eastward to dominate several miles of the highway to Toledo, 50 miles to the northeast.

Bitter Fighting
The advance, made after some of the bitterest fighting in the 25 months-old civil war, straightened insurgent lines linking the southwestern and central fronts. The insurgents have abandoned the south by the stalled offensive against the government's mercury mining area around Almaden, 60 miles southward.

Insurgents captured Gaeta peak just northwest of Villa Alba de Arens on the west bank of the Ebro in Catalonia, and gave General Franco a firmer footing for attacks against strongly entrenched militiamen north of Gandesa.

During four massed air battles over the Ebro front yesterday, the government reported its craft shot down 16 insurgent planes. Insurgents said, however, 17 government pursuit ships and three bombers were brought down.

Roosevelt Will Go to Washington Next Week
Hyde Park, N. Y.—(P)—President Roosevelt will go back to Washington early next week, after a brief tour and return to his presidential White House here for a prolonged visit.

Mr. Roosevelt said yesterday he would return to the capital next Sunday or Monday night, and remain there only so long as necessary. Some of his time will be spent at his home in Hyde Park, N. Y., and at his farm in the Washington area.

The president said he would also schedule a campaign stop at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on Sept. 17 commemorating the 15th anniversary of New York's ratification of the constitution and a similar observance at Canton, Mass., about Sept. 20.

Brannan Will Stand Criminal Libel Trial

Juneau—(P)—Criminal libel charges against E. R. Brannan, Beaufort, Alaska, politician, have been set for trial in circuit court here today.

James Wickham of Eau Claire, Wis., president of the National Union of Public Employees, charged with libel, Brannan's "The Nation" magazine, pending trial.

'Jitterbugs' Ruin Soldier Field Turf At Big Jam Session

Chicago—(P)—Midsummer madness and a synonymous to "jitterbugs" ruined the turf at Soldier Field today.

The turf was trampled by a swaying, swaying mass of more than 100,000 jitterbugs last night.

The jitterbugs of swing—alligators of the jitterbug—overlaid Soldier Field to make up the biggest crowd in the stadium lake front stadium since the war.

They came to participate in a giant free jam session sponsored by Chicago's new century committee and the Chicago Daily Times.

Seven-seven swing bands were on hand to get them in the groove.

Police reserves, summoned to the stadium to round the crowd uncontrollable.

The shag, Susie-Q, limping dog, and a m-sham might be alright for a jammed floor but they're hard on the feet. Today, a city corporation counsel, today carefully contemplated the possibility of having to raise $4,000 to resod Soldier field.

Allowance Acquaints Child With Money Value

BY ANGELO PATRI

A child's allowance should not be used either as a reward or a punishment. It is his share of the money set aside for the children's needs. If he did not handle it himself someone else would do so for him. It ought to be his by right of family unity.

We give children an allowance to teach them how to use money. As they grow in understanding we teach them more about the family budget, how it is spent, and why. We try to have them buy as many of their own things as possible so that they will learn what they cost and how far money goes, or how short a stretch it makes.

We hope that the use of an allowance, coupled with the keeping of an account book, will train the children to wise spending and, in time, to conservation of their funds. Saving is not the beginning and end of the use of money. Spending is very important indeed, for we all must engage in it, like it or not. Saving comes afterward, if it can be managed.

'Dumb' Husband Proves Biggest Marital Problem

BY DOROTHY DIX

The greatest problem with which women have to wrestle in marriage is not the philandering husband, nor the drunkard, nor the lazy loafer, but the dumb husband.

They can do something drastic about the others. Sometimes they can reform the drunkard, and when they can't they can throw the mantle of their pity over his weakness. If they think that their "I won't work" is a luxury that is worth paying for, they can go to work and support him. But what in Heaven's name is a wife to do with a husband who turns a marriage that should be a happy one into dust and ashes in her teeth by refusing to see her as a human being, much less as a woman?

There are millions of husbands like this. Fine, upright, honorable men. Sober as the town pump. Domestic as the house cat. Good providers. Give their wives fine homes, expensive cars, clothes and jewels—everything except the one thing that the wives want most, and that is some sign that they are still regarded as Lady Loves and not merely as part of the household equipment.

So far as these women can tell they rate right along in their husbands' esteem with the electric refrigerator and the vacuum cleaner and automatic heating. Useful conveniences that add to their comfort. Not to be noticed as long as they function without friction and to be avoided when they go wrong, but calling for no emotional outbursts or paeans of praise.

This isn't what any woman marries for. She didn't marry for a meal ticket and neither did she marry just to be a gas range to her husband. She wants to make her husband comfortable and she is willing to work her fingers to the bone to do it, but she doesn't want him to take her services as impersonally as he would that of a chair in which he had rested his tired bones or the table on which he had eaten.

So we have myriads of unhappy women who have technically "good" husbands; women married to men who are faithful, generous and unselfishly kind, but who take all of their labor and sacrifices without a word of appreciation; who never notice what they have on, or whether they are sick or well; who never take the slightest interest in any of their plans; who never show them any evidence of affection and who have not in years given them a kiss that wasn't so cold and meaningless it was an insult instead of a caress.

No one knows how many wives drag through long, lonely, bitter years of marriage, striving, hoping, praying in vain to win some tenderness from their husbands. No one knows how many wives have starved to death for some affection from their husbands and never knew that they were "beloved" until their ghosts saw it carved on their tombstones.

Now, if husbands did not love their wives, or if they were so ignorant of women's nature that they did not know how their wives craved affection and what value they put upon little attentions, or if they thought their wives were mind-readers and would know that they were devoted to them, even if they never gave any indication of their love, the marriage would be a failure. If they are not needed for family necessities, should be banked to the children's accounts and saved toward their future expenses.

Many parents think it grasping and mean to take the children's earnings from them for any purpose, even saving. They say indignantly, "Let them have it. It is theirs. They earned it." What has that got to do with the effect of the children's earnings on the children? Unwise use of money is one of the surest ways to ruin children that can be discovered or practised.

Give the children their allowance and use it as an educational experience, not as a reward or a punishment. Teach children to save for a specific purpose when they have passed the first childish spending stage. And help them to conserve their earnings.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped addressed envelope for reply.

Men know all of this and that with a few soft words they can make their wives happy and save themselves money, arguments and friction, and yet they will not say them. And if that isn't the limit in dumbness, what is?

My Neighbor Says—

As a rule dahlias do not keep very well when cut, this being especially true of those with large heads. They can be made to last for several days, however, if they are cut early in the morning when the stems are full of sap, stripped of their leaves for six inches from the ends of the stems, and these stems placed in water as hot as can be borne by the hands. The flowers should be allowed to remain in the water until it cools. It may be necessary, though, to protect the flowers themselves with paper to prevent their being injured by the steam. The next step is to place them in cold water, allowing them to remain in a cool dark place for 12 hours.

Leftover egg yolks made into custard, chilled and served on fresh peaches make a "real" dessert—refreshing and filling.

A teaspoon of granulated sugar added to the water in which turnips are boiled, removes the strong turnip taste to which some people object.

Old Gardener Says:

Freesias and oxalis are excellent bulbs to grow for winter bloom in the house. Many persons, however, do not realize that they require a longer season to develop than other bulbs and that they should be purchased and potted up in late August or early September. They do not need to be put in a dark cellar or outdoor trench as do tulips, daffodils and hyacinths. It is only necessary to set them in a fairly cool room and out of direct sunlight. The tops and roots develop at the same time, although slowly. Just enough water should be given to keep them reasonably moist. If they are watered freely, the bulbs will rot. One of the advantages in growing both freesias and oxalis is that they can be forced several years in succession, which is not true of most other bulbs.

No Referendum to Be Held on Corn Marketing Quotas

Report Large Exports, Less Than Normal Acreage Make It Unnecessary

No referendum on corn marketing quotas will be held this year, R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agent, has been informed.

The national August crop report indicated a 1938 corn crop of approximately 2,566,000,000 bushels, and Secretary Henry A. Wallace estimates a carry-over of corn on October 1, 1938 of 320,000,000 bushels.

So the 1938 corn crop and the carry-over will amount on Oct. 1 to around 2,886,000,000 bushels. This indicated supply, AAA officials point out, does not exceed 110 per cent of the normal supply. The supply level defined in the Agricultural Adjustment act of 1938 at which corn marketing quotas are to be put in effect subject to a referendum is 110 per cent of the normal supply.

Two main factors, it is said, have helped to keep the corn supply this year at a level which makes it unnecessary to conduct a referendum on corn marketing quotas. These factors are:

First, the large exports of corn during the current marketing year, which are expected to be more than 12 times the average of the past 10 years.

Second, the lower than normal corn acreage, resulting for the most part from the AAA acreage adjustment, but to some extent from a temporary shift from corn to wheat in the western part of the corn belt.

Exports of corn for the year ending Sept. 30 are estimated at 120 million bushels, and exports are expected to continue at the present rate until the new crop becomes available in Argentina, the world's major corn exporting country, which harvested only a half crop last year. Imports of corn into the United States last Jan. 1, 1938, have averaged about 45,000 bushels per month which is only about three tenths of one per cent of the average monthly exports.

The decline in corn acreage is considered even more important than the increase in exports as a factor in averting a surplus so great as to necessitate holding a referendum on the use of marketing quotas.

Carlson Explains Purposes of WAA

Authority Is Non-Stock, Non-Profit Organization, Manager Says

The Wisconsin Agricultural authority is a non-stock, non-profit corporation formed to promote Wisconsin agricultural products. It is not a crop control plan and should not be confused with federal triple letter programs, according to the explanation made by Wilbur G. Carlson, manager, in a letter to R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent.

Assisting in the disposal of Wisconsin's enormous surplus crop of peas may be its first undertaking, Carlson indicated. A sales program is contemplated.

Many inquiries received at the WAA offices at Madison show a wide misunderstanding of the authority, Carlson said. Following is its program:

Promote and encourage, and assist in establishing and maintaining, high grades and standards of quality for agricultural products of the state.

Expand markets for agricultural products and promote and develop new markets.

Improve means of marketing, merchandising, manufacturing, warehousing, storing, advertising, financing, transporting, grading, and standardizing Wisconsin agricultural products.

Investigate and study conditions affecting Wisconsin agriculture, and collect and disseminate information and engage in statistical, research, and educational activities.

Cooperate with and assist persons, firms, cooperative associations, corporations and other organizations, and cities, towns, villages and other governmental units, in agricultural promotions.

Grange Will Send Two Delegates to Leadership School

Mr. Henry Schaefer and Donald Menning were chosen from Outagamie county and Mrs. Hanford Johnson and Harold Reinders from Winnebago county to represent South Greenville Grange at a leadership school to be held the last week in September, at a meeting Saturday night at the Grange hall.

Mr. John Laird gave a report on a meeting held recently to plan for the leadership school.

George Schaefer read a letter from the department of markets on the farmer-labor situation and the Wagner act, and Herman Hilde Neenah, state master, explained resolutions which the letter contained. Action on these resolutions was referred to the Grange legislative committee. The next meeting will be Sept. 3.

Mrs. Martha Kern was reelected president of the Wide Awake home economics group and Mrs. Adolph Miller was chosen secretary-treasurer in place of Miss Irene Gear, at a meeting last Thursday night at the home of Mrs. William Galt, route 2, Neenah. Mrs. Kathleen Steffler was reelected leader and Mrs. Mary Jensen was chosen new leader to succeed Mrs. Betty Gosz. Regular meetings of the group will not be resumed for about a month.

Hopper Poison Bait Mixing Station Closed

The grasshopper poison bait mixing station at the Outagamie county highway garage has been closed, R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent, said today.

The bait is most effective has passed, now that grasshoppers have reached a mature stage, he explained. Most damage from the pests now will be made to alfalfa seed.

MOST FRECKLED

Grin and wear it! That's the motto of Jimmy Dineen of Malden, Mass., whose freckled countenance won him the title of "most freckled" in Greater Boston. So wearing that spattered look had great compensation for cheerful Jimmy.

Chilton — T. Henry Weeks, secretary of the Calumet County fair, has announced that the golden jubilee premium book is ready for the 1938 attraction Sept. 2, 3, 4 and 5. The books are being distributed through cooperation of the Calumet County Cheesemakers' association.

Books also will be available at the banks and from the fair officers.

Cash premiums of over $1,000 have been allotted to the cattle department. This department also has been greatly enlarged including Holsteins, Guernseys, Ayrshires, Brown Swiss, Shorthorns, and Jerseys, the Brown Swiss and Jerseys being new additions to this department.

With the increased interest in good horses for the past several years fair officers expect to see one of the finest horse shows in the history of the Calumet County fair.

While Calumet County has never ranked very high in the production of sheep, nevertheless prizes are offered for three breeds of sheep: Shropshires, Hampshires and Oxford.

Several additions have been made in the swine department with increases in both the number of entries and the amount of prize money offered in the swine division. Six classes are available for exhibitors in this department.

William Moeller, superintendent of the poultry department, has banded a new deal for the poultry department. There are classes for every color, size, shape, age, and weight of chicken.

Authority Is Non-Stock, Non-Profit Organization, Manager Says

The Wisconsin Agricultural authority is a non-stock, non-profit corporation formed to promote Wisconsin agricultural products. It is not a crop control plan and should not be confused with federal triple letter programs, according to the explanation made by Wilbur G. Carlson, manager, in a letter to R. C. Swanson, county agricultural agent.

Assisting in the disposal of Wisconsin's enormous surplus crop of peas may be its first undertaking, Carlson indicated. A sales program is contemplated.

Many inquiries received at the WAA offices at Madison show a wide misunderstanding of the authority, Carlson said. Following is its program:

Promote and encourage, and assist in establishing and maintaining, high grades and standards of quality for agricultural products of the state.

Expand markets for agricultural products and promote and develop new markets.

Improve means of marketing, merchandising, manufacturing, warehousing, storing, advertising, financing, transporting, grading, and standardizing Wisconsin agricultural products.

Investigate and study conditions affecting Wisconsin agriculture, and collect and disseminate information and engage in statistical, research, and educational activities.

Cooperate with and assist persons, firms, cooperative associations, corporations and other organizations, and cities, towns, villages and other governmental units, in agricultural promotions.

New Section Weed Control Program Showing Promise

System Reported Inexpensive and Is Entirely Voluntary

The new section weed control plan is showing promise in communities of the state where it is being tried, according to R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agricultural agent. This system, which apparently was first developed in Redwood county, Minn., is entirely educational and voluntary.

Under this plan, a farmer in every section in each town, called the section weed man, assists his neighbors in making a survey of all the weed patches in that section. The information in each section is then compiled for the entire township. This permits the farmers with the assistance of township officials in starting out on a cooperative weed control plan that can be done with the least expense to everybody concerned. Where sprays or chemicals are needed, they usually are purchased cooperatively or from town or county funds.

In some instances, the county agricultural committee and county board are cooperating with the communities and towns in their weed control problems, reports George Briggs, extension agronomist of the college of agriculture who is helping a number of counties organize the work. Counties which now have every township organized are Kenosha and Rock. Counties with one township organized include Barron, Calumet, Clark, and Racine, while Milwaukee county has three. The plan, Briggs said, lends itself to a complete weed clean-up in the areas organized. The control and eradication of weeds is being recognized as a problem in which everyone is vitally concerned. This includes, besides the farmer, the seed and feed stores that ship in farm seeds; threshing machines; railroads that may have weeds growing on their right-of-way; all land owners in general and trucks that ship in feeds and seeds without inspection.

Recently organized to knit together the efforts of the various groups interested in weed control, was the state seed and weed council. Cooperating in this work is the extension service of the college of agriculture and the state department of agriculture.

Roosevelt's Visit to Canada Revives Ocean Waterway Plan for St. Lawrence

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY
Washington—(U)—President Roosevelt's excursion to the new Thousand Islands bridge between Canada and the United States boosts onto the front page an international issue that has boiled back and forth across the St. Lawrence river for nearly a century and a half.

That issue is the proposed St. Lawrence deep waterway connecting the continent's Great Lakes ports with the Atlantic ocean, thus making ocean ports of such inland cities as Duluth, Chicago, Detroit, Fort William, Ont., Toledo, Cleveland and Buffalo.

The deep waterway has been officially defined as a waterway with a channel at least 27 feet deep to accommodate 90 per cent of the vessels sailing the seven seas. Anything shallower than 27 feet would choke out much ocean freight tonnage.

Two Barriers
There are two natural barriers for most ocean tonnage between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic ocean. One is the 30-mile stretch of roaring International Rapids on the lower St. Lawrence river. (The Canadians have built canals and locks around the rapids, but these vessels accommodate only smaller vessels requiring 14 feet of water or less.)

The other hurdle is the 30-mile strip of land separating Lakes Erie and Ontario, along which runs the famous Niagara river. That river drops several hundred feet between the two lakes. Part of the drop, incidentally, creates the breath-taking beauty of Niagara Falls. (The Canadians also have built the Welland canal around the falls, but its channel is only 25 feet deep.)

The Scheme
Here is the deep waterway scheme itself:
First, dam up the St. Lawrence river at one or two places along the International Rapids, and build locks to lift and lower ocean vessels around the dams. The channel would have to be dredged in spots to 27 feet.

Second, the dams would supply 2,000,000 horsepower of electric power to be divided between the United States and Canada—or rather the countryside along the river on both sides.

Third, the Welland Canal around Niagara would be deepened to 27 feet, and Niagara Falls would be beautified and improved to deliver more electric power than the private interests leasing it from the two governments now provide.

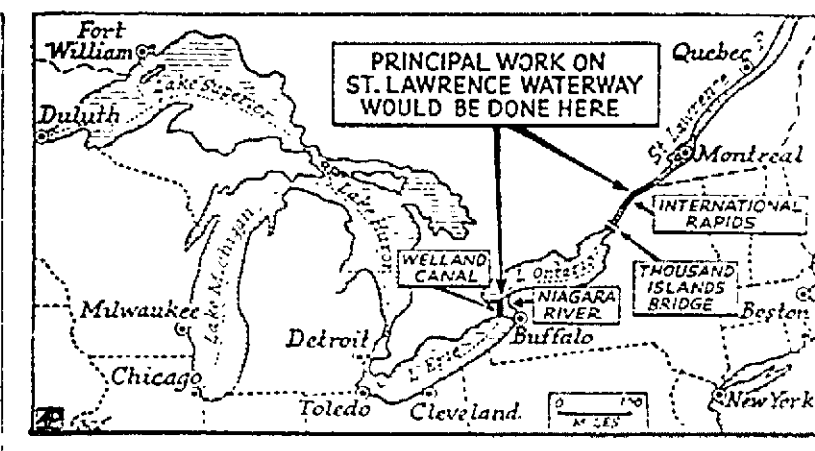

Fourth, Canada would be credited with all the money she has spent on the St. Lawrence waterway and Welland Canal so far, and the United States would pay the bill for creating the deep channel along the rapids and creating the power dam or dams required. This cost would be close to $300,000,000.

The Arguments
Here are the main arguments for the deep waterway.

Ninety per cent of the world's ocean-going vessels could reach the inland ports of America and they would develop a new coastline thousands of miles in length. Freight could be handled at a fraction of the cost by rail, or trans-shipment through existing canals and ports.

The power developed by a St. Lawrence dam—or dams—would create new industrial empires along the shores of the St. Lawrence on both sides of the international border, opening up possibilities for exploiting great mineral wealth, especially iron ore in upstate New York, because of cheap transportation and power.

American and Canadian wheat farmers could sell their wheat to better advantage in the world market because it would cost them less to move the grain by ocean vessels loading at inland ports, than it does to use the railroads or trans-ship through the canals, a costly process.

Creation of the St. Lawrence waterway would mean deepening the Welland canal and building dams and locks in the International Rapids.

The Rebuttal
The arguments against the waterway:

The railroads would be robbed of their life-blood—freight—on both sides of the border, and go bankrupt.

The United States would be spending money on a river that flows into the sea in Canadian territory. From the Canadian point of view, there's something strange about the United States being so willing to pay the cost of developing the St. Lawrence rapids. Instead it is proposed that all-American or all-Canadian canals should be built along different routes.

Racing, the large ports, such as Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo and Montreal would see their big shipping industries go to inland ports.

And from the Canadian point of view the richer United States could develop industries along the St. Lawrence before the corresponding area on the Canadian side could get under way, thereby creating a new industrial menace to Canadian industry.

Where It Stands
The present state of affairs: President Roosevelt has just proposed to Canada a new treaty to permit the United States to go ahead with a power dam and the deep waterway along the St. Lawrence, allowing Canada until 1949 to complete her part of the system. This assumes Canada is not ready to spend the money, but would approve the scheme now, so the United States could go ahead.

Canada has not replied to the American note transmitting the treaty to the Ottawa government. Even if the Canadian government should sign the treaty, it would have to be ratified by the American Senate and the Canadian parliament. Both bodies have declined to approve such a treaty in the past.

The power question:
All through the years, the argument over electric power has slowly been overshadowing navigation. The Roosevelt administration professes to see behind some of the opposition to the waterways the hand of the Aluminum Company of America and the Niagara-Hudson power company of New York.

So about the only incontestable statement you can make about the St. Lawrence deep waterway is that it would have been built years ago if there were no valuable electric power lying idle (but ready for use) in the St. Lawrence rapids, or if the river were no boundary line between two nations—which it happens to be during much of its course.

Warnings on the Sky
There is a good deal of trouble on the horizon. News items often require interpretation. For instance, Mr. Rued, a Badgerite, has petitioned Senator Duffy to compel the government to make good the losses he suffered when he bought cheese and eggs under the political direction that the price was going up because "we planned it that way." Mr. Duffy doesn't find the Rued petition practical and turns to the sale of cabbage and sauerkraut to the government.

Consider the curious condition to which we have come, this nation with 30 per cent German blood unable to consume even last year's kraut which is still in the vats.

But can Mr. Rued be blamed for his petition when he reads that we have over 13 billions of gold in some subterranean vaults and the 1700 workers employed by the government at its mints and depositories are quitting a 44-hour week for one of 40?

The man who would straighten out these kinks in our troubled times should consider also the woman over in Prague who has sued her schoolmaster husband for a divorce because he spent his spare time in preparing a telephone book with the names spelled backwards. The grave husband declared that lots of people forgot the first syllable of names they wanted to call and he wanted to help them. It shouldn't raise a laugh over here when we consider the spelling of those Czechoslovakian names. Perhaps, after all, this school master is a pioneer. He may have caught the drift of the times before Corrigan and realized that everything is going backwards, slipping into reverse, and he wanted to be prepared for the new day.

Neither is that steam shovel working on a big pile of refuse from a mine down in Pennsylvania with the temperature up to 95, and which dug up a huge deposit of ice, so far out of line.

Whether these be temporary or permanent manifestations of world trends we, not being among the planners and the star gazers, cannot declare for certain, but we salute the filling station man down in North Carolina who has built a "kick machine" handily located at his station for the use of anyone who will turn the crank and acquire for himself a good swift kick in the pants, no doubt a fine medicine for those who have been misled by the soothsayers. The owner of the machine says the kicking apparatus had to be replaced four times because there were so many people who felt the necessity of suffering some penalty.

ALCAZAR LIVES FOREVER
Among great deeds glowing with the eternal fire of fame the defense of the Alcazar at Toledo will remain fresh and verdant so long as Man fights the thing called the Beast.

The shrill peak of the Alcazar defense occurred when those supporting the Beast telephoned Colonel Moscardo in charge of the Alcazar demanding that he surrender or otherwise the golden dream of his life, his 17 year old son, held prisoner by the Reds, would be shot, to which Moscardo replied evenly:

"You are neither a soldier nor a gentleman. If you were you would know that I cannot listen to threats."

But the diabolical fury of the Beast, its hatred and mania for blood suggested it bring the son to the phone, resulting in this dialogue:

"They say they're going to shoot me if you don't surrender."

"Son if it is true that they are going to shoot you for your soul in God's name, have the very best for Spain and one for Christ the King, and die like a hero. For the best of Spain your father will be a martyr."

"Goodbye, my son."

That little dialogue, and that episode created in reality by the Beast as it uncovered its true and hideous face will live in bronze in Spain a thousand years. And it will live elsewhere, too.

The brave boy lies in the grave of a martyr.

While men are made like Colonel Moscardo the Beast will be held at bay, and humanity the world over will thank heaven that men could lift themselves to such heroic heights and thus bless the many generations yet to come in the grim struggle with the Beast, made extremely difficult because it so seldom gives the world a glance at its horrid countenance.

TWO WILD PROSECUTORS

Courtney, son of a policeman, at Chicago, and Dewey, Michigan farm boy, at New York, have been acting in a peculiar and unorthodox fashion.

Whoever gave prosecutors the authority to seek and collect evidence merely because informed that wrongdoing was a rife?

Would it not be appropriate to have bar associations and other legalistic societies inquire into this profound disregard of gamblers' rights and privileges? It just isn't regular. The big cities must be going screwy.

Courtney directed a rough bunch of deputies into de luxe parlors long established in downtown Chicago. The $400 red-leather couches were slit and scattered. The luxurious enameled easy chairs were smashed like china plate. The modernistic wall-betting paraphernalia was slithered into ribbons. Other mechanisms created to relieve foolish clerks and confused housewives of saved-up dollars were baptized by sledge hammers. It was all very thorough, and even though politics opens the jail doors to free the owners, still there is that loss of $25,000 in furniture.

On Courtney's first raid the owner of the panned joint, aghast at this disturbance of his peace, blurted, "I've made a living all my life as a gambler and I'll be opening again soon," a natural enough statement since the first reaction to such a raid is that it is only one of those irregular show-offs to make the public think it is being protected. But after repeated attacks in this hard-fisted manner upon other "culture centers" as some bookies christened their webs there developed a perfect air of quiet about the front.

What sort of a person, say the slick gentry, can this Courtney be? He isn't for sale. He cannot be reached. Even the promise of funds and help on election day makes no headway.

Just a queer one.

When Mr. Dewey became prosecutor at New York there were quite a few rumors about rackets, some of the biggest of them among the gambling fraternity.

Dewey acted unexpectedly, like a man out of his head. There was that fine mahogany desk in his office upon which he never swung his feet. He went to work.

And then another crazy thing happened. Mobsters, paid killers, steers, touts and all the rest of the underworld personnel started shaking in their boots simultaneously. There was a bitter fight among them but it was to get to Dewey first with their confessions. Pleas of guilty became the order of the day. Sentences up to 40 years are not uncommon. "I want the big ones," says this strange prosecutor, queerest of queer men in a day when so many prosecutors feel no thrill of battle when told of wrong, no throb in their temples at stories of fraud and trickery, but crave, instead, the indulgence and favoritism of the gang.

Of course, it must be freely admitted that both Courtney and Dewey are top-notch, crackjack lawyers, keen, quick, fiercely resourceful.

The public must consider this matter of putting such capable men in office. They are very disturbing to all sorts of racketeers.

But we mustn't expect them to be quiet or submit to bull-dozing if we elect them to office.

GERMANY'S MOBILIZATION
Irrespective of the reasons that cause Germany's extensive military mobilization and maneuvers they are likely to do more good at home than elsewhere.

All German soldiers excepting officers of higher rank have been born since the great war or were too young at that time to observe and appraise the terrific strain that war imposed upon the national economy.

The present extensive mobilization will make the German nation think. Already there has been continued slump in its markets, particularly noticeable because, like everything else, the rulers control the exchanges to prevent slumps.

Altogether, including lately called reservists and labor put to work upon the service of supply, something over 2 million men have been turned away from their gainful occupations in shop, factory and farm, causing a serious crippling of production in every line and therefore a material drain upon the wellbeing of the nation.

It is not unlikely that these maneuvers were instituted so that this very result could be observed and calculations made against its reappearance in case of actual war, but the German people and certainly the higher-ups, must be impressed by this demonstration more than the neighbors they intended to warn.

And if that is true it will have served a good purpose.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York.—For just this once I pray to the Gods of the Written Word and ask that they smile upon me and gift me with phrases to the story of a man's great happiness in the face of utter despair.

It is the story of Dr. Robert Katscher, writer of songs. One he wrote can hardly die: "When Day Is Done." Its melody first flowed to America through the baton of Paul Whiteman, a struggling West Coast maestro who became the evangelist of symphonic jazz, helped mightily by "When Day Is Done." The years swam by, but "When Day Is Done" kept pace, dripping nightly from the muted trumpet of Henry Busse, himself now a bandmaster but once a trumpet player with Whiteman—the trumpet player who first soloed this same Katscher classic.

But it is of Dr. Katscher I write, not his song. Of Dr. Katscher and intolerance, ruthlessness, tragedy and great courage. Of Dr. Katscher, whose great-grandfather was a Jew.

Dr. Robert Katscher was a rich man as song writers go. A few years ago he came from his native Vienna, where the cafes echoed to his music, and went on a Hollywood movie payroll at $500 a week. He was there two years. He earned a great deal of money.

In America nobody cared who Robert Katscher's great-grandfather was. Nor did they care, either, of his native Vienna where the writers of melody are beloved and honored.

Then this year, to Vienna, with stiff-gaited soldiers, rolling field pieces and flying Swastikas, came Adolf Hitler—lover of music and hater of Jews.

Viennese were herded by tens of thousands into open places. I tell you only what you yourselves have read, and what Dr. Katscher told. There, to each of the herd, was applied the Aryan microscope.

Under it came Robert Katscher and his wife, at first it showed no non-Aryan traces in either, or in their parents, or in their grand-parents.

But it searches deeply, the Aryan microscope. It came finally to the songwriter's great-grandfather; and he was a Jew.

They said to Dr. Robert Katscher and to his wife, "Get Out!" They said, in effect: "For this insult to the state—the insult of being the great grandson of a Jew—get out! Your lands and your monies are forfeit. Nevermore shall a German or an Austrian dance on this soil to your music. Not one penny more of revenue from it shall you receive. Get out!"

Dr. Katscher is no longer young. The old age security he had builded for himself lay in his songs. A few drops of non-Aryan blood washed that security away.

He came a few weeks ago to America. But what can an elderly man do—an elderly songwriter stripped of the happy songs of his days of genius?

True, his song was still popular enough in America to command royalties, but even these are denied him because the money the song earns is sent to Germany (to be distributed through the German composers' society) as it was before; and it stays there. It is being held "in trust" by the society—being held, presumably, until such a day as he no longer is the great grandson of a Jew.

He had no money. He did find friends—Whiteman, Busse and others who didn't care who his great-grandfather was. By the grace of such friends he lives, painstakingly picking up the broken sticks of his life, starting all over.

But that is not why I write of Robert Katscher. Rather, it is something he said the other evening as we strolled, a few of us, down Fifth Avenue.

"In my pocket," said Dr. Robert Katscher, "are two dollars. They are every cent I have in the world."

His face, strangely, was alight with happiness. "Two dollars," he repeated, "yet I think I must be the happiest man in the world. I am walking down a great avenue in a great city. I am free! I can write my music! I can have such fine friends! I can be happy!"

"God is good. He has led my slowing steps at last to the greatest land in the world!"

Do you wonder that I prayed to the Gods of the Written Word to gift me just this once with phrases to tell a story—a story of a man into whose heart a hand of hate had reached—a hand that tore away a lifetime's work, yet could not destroy a single song?

He is old, he is poor, he is homeless; but at last he has happiness. Day has just begun for him who wrote "When Day Is Done."

Looking Backward

25 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Aug. 27, 1913

Paving crews were engaged in grading North street preparatory to laying asphalt pavement. The brick paving, done by the street car company between the rails, was completed a short time previous.

The per capita cost of government in Wisconsin was much lower than in other states, according to B. Nye, state comptroller of California. He reported per capita expenditure for government in New York was $7.44; Massachusetts, $4.17; Michigan, 4.42; Minnesota, $6.42; California, $6.73; Wisconsin, $4.43.

Mrs. Helen Hogan entertained 12 ladies at her home at a 5 o'clock luncheon yesterday afternoon. Games were played with prizes going to Mrs. Ellen Farrell and Mrs. Catherine Patten.

Frank C. Hyde left for Chicago the previous day to attend the Jewelers' National convention.

10 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Aug. 22, 1928

The Island Lake Park estate, halfway between Keshena Falls and Neopit, Shawano county, had been sold by Frank C. Hyde to Dr. H. P. Sirek of Milwaukee, who was to take immediate possession. The estate consisted of 120 acres with several thousand feet of shore line bordering on Island and Big lakes.

Mrs. W. Z. Stuart of Neenah left Wednesday for New York city and she was to sail from there Saturday for Bucharest, Rumania, where she was to represent the Wisconsin department of the American Legion and auxiliary at the convention of the Inter-Allied Veteran association of the World war.

Robert Kunitz of Appleton was the only Wisconsin boy entered on a track team at the Citizen's Military Training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER
Washington — One of J. Edgar Hoover's highly prized possessions, in addition to the bullet proof vest of John Dillinger, is a letter from an earnest admirer who concluded a long dissertation on crime by saying:

"After long study, I have concluded that the best way to end crime is to outlaw it."

Just as the Department of Justice presses its campaign to outlaw price-fixing and monopoly, the Postoffice Department disposes, and boasts, that it does the nearest bit of profiteering in the land.

For 7 cents it can manufacture a sheet of 100 three cent stamps, sell them to a stamp collector and reap a clear profit of $2.93. It could profit even more if stamp collectors bought whole sheets of 50 stamps, which don't cost much more to print than the three cents. But stamp collectors don't buy the costly ones wholesale.

So profitable is the business of selling to stamp collectors that the Department is thinking of taking a truck load on a transcontinental tour to drum up business. As one postman calculated, if a million people could be persuaded to start collecting stamps and in the course of time bought $100 worth each, that would be $100,000,000, almost clear profit — as long as they keep them in their collections. If they use them to send letters the profit is gone. It costs the Department all of the three cents to carry the letter. It all sounds sort of dreamy-eyed to us, but then, we don't collect stamps.

Anyway, the truck isn't going for a while. There's a hitch. Taking a million dollars worth of stamps across the country without an escort seems risky. If an armed escort went along, it would eat up part of the profit. Mr. Farley hasn't solved the one yet.

Incidentally, the people who buy those 55 stamps are bankers and movie companies. They cluster them on insured securities and on films being hurried about the country.

This piece began with G-men and can end by telling how they practice shooting kidnappers. A target resembling a kidnaper is set up 60 yards away, a fair distance for pistol shooting. The G-man, pretending he is battling a kidnaper, blazes away five times with the gun in his right hand and another five with it in his left, loading in between.

Then begins the charge. The G-man rushes 10 yards at a time, firing sometimes lying flat on his stomach, sometimes sitting or kneeling. In all he shoots 50 times half with his left hand and half with his right. The last 10 shots are fired from the hip at 30 feet.

All of this shooting and loading must be completed in 64 minutes. Most G-men do it in 6 minutes. (The kidnaper is supposed to stand there. The G-man is based on what part of the body the bullet hits. Any G-man getting under 80 points better start practicing. In a fight with gangsters, a miss is as good as a monument.)

Draw Picture To Test Brain

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Bloomington, Ind.—One cause of disturbance in all grades of minds, from weakling to genius, is shown in a new mental test at Indiana university.

The test, by mirror drawing, temporarily reduces persons of all ages to a 6-year-old level, and so gets at the workings of the mind from an unusual angle. It indicates that abnormal reactions are not due to any one of the "parts" of a brain slipping, but to the whole brain falling back to an earlier type of function.

The resulting clarification of the cause of mental disturbance promises a "way out" for those who are troubled, and some help for the mildly insane.

The test was devised by George S. Snoddy, professor of psychology. He began by asking himself: "Can we find out what is wrong with a lot of people today when so many are going to mental hospitals?"

He reasoned that there must be some sort of mental slip common not only to the unbalanced but to everyone else. He made the guess that this "common denominator" of brain trouble would be found in a type of brain function that appears in childhood.

To reach the childhood level of thinking, in adults as well as in children, he selected a stunt not more than 100 persons in a million ever saw. It is mirror drawing. The writer sees his hand and pencil in a mirror, which makes all movements appear to go in exactly the opposite direction.

The test is to draw a star-shaped diagram. It looks even easier than it sounds. But beginners, of all ages, make an average of 200 errors in 200 seconds.

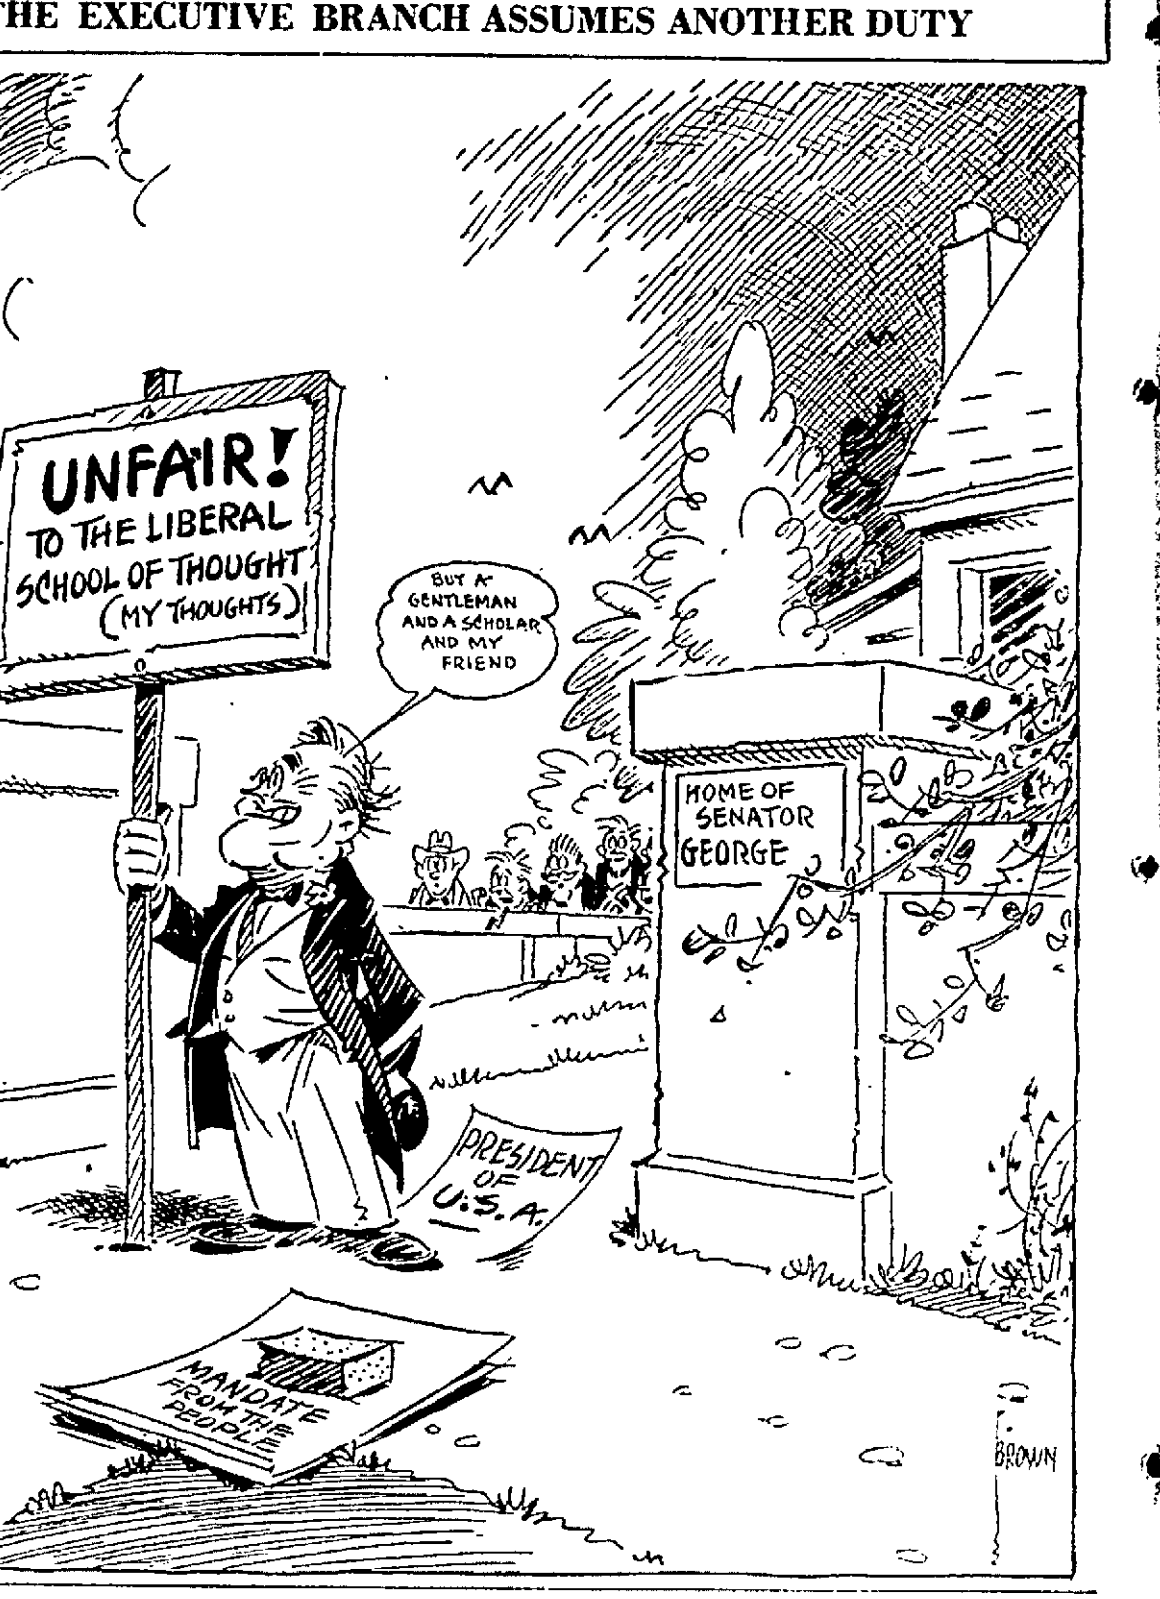

The instrument consists of a metal stencil of the conventional five-pointed figure attached to a plate of glass. The stencil trace is about a quarter of an inch wide. The purpose is to draw the star pattern without touching the sides of the metal.

Upper Limit at 20
Everyone improves quickly during the first 20 trials. From the ages of 6 to 20 this improvement is progressive with age. The 20-year-olds learn three times as fast as the 6-year-olds.

At 20 the upper limit of ability, so far as it comes from age alone, is reached. That is, a 7-year-old is higher than a 6-year-old, a 14-year-old higher than a 10-year-old, but at no point beyond 20 is an individual higher than the 20-year standard.

Beyond the age of 20 many men-

THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH ASSUMES ANOTHER DUTY

Your Birthday

"VIRGO"
If August 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a. m.; from 3 to 5 p. m. and from 9 to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 to 9 a. m., from 5 to 7 p. m.; and from 11 p. m. until midnight.

Regardless of what business you are in, or whether your activities are confined to household duties, give your work careful consideration before starting it this day, so that inefficiency will not make it burdensome. Yielding to a temptation to try to bluff your way into or out of something will only involve you in a lot of trouble. Many persons may be inclined to be domineering, with the result that the peace of many homes and offices will be disrupted by internal strife. It is advisable not to go around with too serious a face, or looking like you are about to "bite nails" this day, for it might spoil not only your own pleasure, but other people's, as well. A pleasant countenance can help you in many ways. Married and engaged couples, and those whose love and devotion is centered upon one person, must be sure that any advice they offer is sound and practical, for through foolish suggestions many men and women will be led astray this day.

If a woman and August 25 is your birthday, beware that a love intrigue does not involve you in many unpleasant complications. Develop a sense of loyalty, if you wish to retain the friendship and love of close associates and relatives. Do not underrate any service you render or place too small a value on your time and labor. Self-depreciation is often one of the most serious faults of people born on this date. You are probably well qualified to teach, paint, engage in some line of theatrical or literary work, as well as act as a sales representative. You seem destined to know the joys of a happy married life, as the result of marrying the right type of man.

The child born on August 25 needs congenial companionship by having children of its own age to play with. Loneliness can have a decided effect upon this youngster's disposition. If children born on this date are given only half a chance they generally make a place for themselves in the world's affairs.

If a man and August 25 is your natal day, your perception and intuition may help you to avoid the mistakes that cause so many men to fail. As a mining engineer, contractor, doctor, chemist, inventor, lawyer, actor, sales agent or writer you may make a splendid name and a substantial fortune for yourself.

tal disturbances are revealed by the mirror drawing. Many adults are far below the 20-year level. Study of these adults shows one similarity in all—lack of ease and ability in adapting themselves to a new situation.

The adult inmates of a mental hospital rated on the average at 13 years old in mirror drawing. "If you test these mental cases on things they have been used to," said Professor Snoddy, "they are normal. In a mental hospital they often recover but relapse on being sent home. The reason is inability to face home situations different from those in the hospital."

Those who overcome their disturbing or curb them to the point of suffering no apparent harm, use this quality of patience to learn how to do a few things very well, even brilliantly.

"The test shows that the stimulation of a new problem shocks the organism, that the brain, so to speak, is upset," Professor Snoddy says. "And this is true for perfectly normal people as well as for those disturbed. The effect is simply greater in the case of those who are in a nervous or disturbed condition."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Bad Habit Overcome
Six months ago I sent for your book on constipation habit. My wife and I want to thank you. We had faith in your advice and now we are cured of a lifelong habit. (H. H. R.)

Second Sight
I wore glasses until about the age of 64. Then, following a suggestion in your own column, I began and still continue to slap my closed eyes smartly with fingertips while bathing them in the morning, and soon found I no longer needed spectacles—am now 74. (Mrs. M. J. A.)

Answer—Some persons do regain extraordinarily good vision and recover the ability to read without glasses, at about that age.

TEA VERSUS BEER
Melbourne, Victoria — (1) — An enterprising caterer is trying to substitute tea for beer as the favorite beverage among football spectators here. He offers eight-ounce cartons at five cents apiece. The tea keeps hot for 15 minutes.

PLAYS POSSUM
Sydney, N.S.W. — (1) — Perhaps it was tired, or just lazy, but a sheep on a ranch near here lay so long on its back on a feeding trough, everyone thought it was dead. When a farmer grabbed its stiffly upturned legs and swung it to the ground after several hours, the sheep bleated loudly and began feeding at the trough.

NOT A POLITICAL OFFICE
Editor Post-Crescent—(1) — I want to take exception to the statement made by Mr. Arbogast in his article of Aug. 19th, namely: "Those in the Construction Industry feel that events indicate that the office of Building Inspector is going to be political and non-cooperative." Of course the building industry made no statement. Mr. Arbogast said they felt that way. The beginning of any office term is a poor time for anyone to make predictions. However, I want to assure the citizens of Appleton that when I signed the oath of office (and it is not the first oath of office that I have signed) it was an agreement to do the work, and the work will be done to the best of my ability. I will cooperate 100 per cent with the builders and tradesmen.

I fail to see where anything has happened to make the office political. Up until the 8th ballot, I favored one of the applicants, and did what I could for him, but he could not get the required seven votes. After that it was just a question of how soon seven aldermen would think alike and agree on a candidate.

Polluted School Water Wells are Ordered Sealed

Board Authorizes Tests Made at McKinley, Jef- ferson School Pumps

The board of education last night ordered water wells at Franklin and Richmond grade schools sealed permanently and authorized a test of two more wells, one at McKinley school and another at Jefferson school.

A report of a water test made by W. U. Gallaher, water works superintendent, was submitted to the board and revealed water in both the wells ordered sealed is contaminated. Dr. G. T. Hegner, a member of the board, said the report indicated the wells were polluted with germs which are a forerunner of typhoid.

Action on bids for coal to be used in the schools next winter was deferred until a school board committee meets with the coal dealers to discuss prices submitted. The committee includes Seymour Gmeiner, president of the board, Dr. Hegner and Homer H. Benton. The board arranged temporary transportation for orthopedic school and ungraded school pupils from their homes to the Morgan school with the Smith Livery company and the Yellow Cab company. Mrs. Helen H. Benton, secretary, was instructed to study the transportation problem after school starts and submit a report to the board.

Propose Conference
A letter from the Tri-City Electrical Contractors association objecting to the completion of electrical work at Morgan school without a master electrician on the job was received. The contractors wanted to know the status of the work at the school. The board instructed the secretary to write a representative of the association to confer with James Lytle, Jr., superintendent of the work, to determine how much electrical work remains to be completed.

Miss Eileen Lockland, LaCrosse, was hired by the board to teach the first grade at Edison school. She is a graduate of LaCrosse State Teachers college and will replace Miss Marion Uebel, who was given a contract to teach English at the senior high school. Miss Brooks is a graduate of Oshkosh Teachers college, did graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and had teaching experience at Sterling, Ill., and Granton. She will replace George B. Walter.

Permission to march in the trades and labor council Labor day parade was given to the Appleton High school band. The board had withheld its approval until it heard from the Musicians Protective association, which had objected to amateur bands competing with professional units.

Communication System
Purchase of an inter-communicating system to be installed in Morgan school was approved by board members. The system will be purchased from the Meyer-Seeger Music company for $419.25.

The board also authorized the purchase of used shop equipment from the Bay Vette Machinery company, Green Bay. The equipment includes a trolley and two gas furnaces amounting to $189 and a shaving exhaust system for the planer and jointer costing $339.

Fatal Crash Inquest Will be Held Monday

An inquest in the fatal auto-truck crash which claimed the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wagner and two of their children, Marvin and Marilyn, near Twelve Corners, Aug. 11, will be held at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon at Black Creek, Raymond P. Dohr, district attorney, said today.

The four were killed when their car, driven by Wagner, and a truck driven by Harold Klarner, Black Creek, collided at a town road intersection. Klarner suffered a severe gash in his left arm and was released from a Green Bay hospital yesterday. Two other Wagner children also were injured in the crash.

Extended Taxes Unpaid Are Piling Up Interest

Joseph A. Kox, city treasurer, today reminded taxpayers that taxes extended to July 31 are drawing .3 per cent per month interest under the state law in addition to the 1 per cent interest charge assessed by the city.

Only 7 per cent of extended taxes remains to be collected, $5,338.60. A total of $80,377.94 was extended under a resolution adopted by the city council last April allowing 50 per cent of real estate taxes to be paid up to July 31.

Governor's Day Is Observed at Wisconsin Fair

State Event Well on Way to Surpassing All-Time Attendance Record

Milwaukee—(P)—Governor's day at the Wisconsin State fair today brought fine weather and 25,600 persons had passed through the gates up to noon.

Governor LaFollette was scheduled to arrive late this afternoon. Because of his late arrival, the governor was taken off the program of presenting certificates of merit to outstanding Wisconsin farmers. The awards are sponsored by the Future Farmers of America. The governor was to talk later.

Three doctors of the state board of health were busy judging the healthiest boy and girl. Because of the large number of eligibles—708 this year compared to 160 last—it was doubtful whether the judging would be finished on schedule Thursday. For the first time, child clubs were eligible to compete. The winners will be given prizes and the highest ranking 4-H boy and girl will represent the state in a national contest in Chicago.

Milwaukee—(P)—The Wisconsin State fair went into its fifth day today, apparently well on the way to surpassing last year's all-time record of 602,586 visitors. The turnstiles admitted 55,010 fairgoers yesterday, bringing the attendance total to date to 285,366, approximately five per cent greater than last year's figure for the same period.

Today was "Governor's and Fraternal day," with Governor Philip P. LaFollette scheduled to make a grandstand appearance.

Your next-door neighbor will be wearing a "Sales Mean Jobs" badge on his lapel and the next day you'll have one, too.

The crusade's cry will be written in flaming letters across the night sky just east of the Memorial Drive bridge, for the Wisconsin Michigan Power company will erect the "Sales Mean Jobs" on its gigantic illuminated sign over the Fox river. It is already becoming the talk of the town and after the Pierce park rally the crusade, having provided its economic and psychological soundness, will move on to even greater achievements.

The statement that the "Sales Mean Jobs" crusade is the "talk of the town" is not overdrawn. Appleton business men, clerks, workers are getting interested. Each day that interest mounts and each day the Appleton crusade is enlisting more ardent partisans.

Order Investigation In Maryland Campaign

Washington—(P)—The senate campaign expenditures committee ordered today the investigation asked by Representative Lewis into the conduct of the campaign of his opponent for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Maryland, Senator Tydings.

Chairman Sheppard (D-Texas) said committee investigators would be sent into Maryland within the next day or two to inquire into the sponsorship of advertisements appearing in Maryland newspapers asserting that Lewis' campaign was being financed in part by the CIO.

Lewis had contended the CIO advertisements were authorized by Fred A. Dolfeld, treasurer of the Tydings campaign committee. He urged that a report be made by the committee as to their truth.

Rules K-C Land Exempt From Green Bay Taxes

Madison—(P)—Attorney General Orland S. Loomis advised the state tax commission today that dock property, approaches and appurtenances controlled by agreement between trustees of the North Western Railway and the Kimberly-Clark Corporation in the city of Green Bay, are not subject to taxation by the municipality.

Loomis ruled the property, which will come into possession of the railroad upon expiration of a licensing agreement, is part of the transportation system and therefore assessable by the tax commission. An office building and the land on which it stands do not come within the separate valuation classification, he added.

The city assessor, Loomis was told, has taken the view that both the land and improvements were assessable locally.

That there will be no secrets among students of Appleton's new senior high school if they elect to tell them in the new auditorium and if the stories about the points in the building are true. A test made recently revealed that a man, standing on the stage of the huge structure and talking in whisper, can be heard plainly in the projection room at the rear of the auditorium.

A. F. L. Leaders Plan Proposals to Change Two Laws

Federation Will Ask Congress to Revamp Wage-Hour, Wagner Acts

Atlantic City, N. J.—(P)—American Federation of Labor leaders placed at the top of their legislative "must" list today proposals for congressional revamping of two important labor laws—the wage-hour act and the Wagner labor act.

The federation's executive council President William Green disclosed, agreed to ask congress for changes in the wage-hour measure, and has under consideration proposals for drastic changes in the national labor relations law.

Amendments to be sought for both measures will be aimed at curbing broad administrative and quasi-judicial powers delegated by congress.

Analyzes Decisions
Along with the proposed amendments to the Wagner act, the council has received from Joseph A. Padawsky, A. F. of L. general counsel, an analysis of labor board decisions involving contests for bargaining rights between federation craft unions and CIO industrial unions.

Padawsky's analysis, Green announced, "shows pro-CIO decisions where the federation was involved."

"The whole board set-up and administrative staff are hostile to the American Federation of Labor," he added.

The proposed A. F. of L. amendments to the Wagner act, federation leaders said, would transfer to the federal courts the power to set up collective bargaining units.

The federation's decision to press for amendments to the wage-hour law, Green said, was not aimed at Administrator Elmer F. Andrews.

Have Confidence in Head
"We have the greatest confidence in Mr. Andrews," Green declared. A. F. of L. sponsors of the drive to revise parts of the law, led by John P. Frey, of the metal trades department, objected to the delegation of authority to the administrator to classify labor for minimum wage purposes.

This section of the act, Green said, gives government the authority to fix degrees of skill and determine minimum wage levels commensurate with the ability of a skilled worker.

In discussing the act yesterday the council heard Frey also object to the board discretionary power conferred on the administrator to define an apprentice, his length of service, and the ratio of apprentices to journeymen.

Ruling Issued in Optometrist Case

Court Says Small Can Do Business but Bans Use Of Wald's Records

Circuit Judge Edgar V. Werner has made permanent a temporary injunction, with the exception of one clause, brought by Eugene Wald, Appleton jeweler, against Dr. W. A. Small, optometrist, a former employee.

The injunction prevents Small from interfering with the good will of Wald's business, from soliciting business from the latter's clientele, from using copies of the jeweler's mailing and prescription lists and from treating customers of the plaintiff mentioned in the prescription list.

Wald also sought to prevent Small from doing business under an alleged oral agreement under which Small was not to do business in the city for a year after leaving the jeweler's employ. Judge Werner held such an oral agreement would be void after 12 months. Small was in Wald's employ 20 months.

Judge Werner on Sept. 19, will set damages involved in loss of Wald's business through Small's action in using Wald's mailing and prescription lists, and loss of business by Small through the temporary injunction brought by Wald preventing the optometrist from doing business.

"This is where we're getting the money for the campaign."

All of the contributions, he said, were assessed against policy banks controlled by the multi-million dollar Schultz syndicate.

"You will have to help Jimmy Hines elect Dodge because I'm a fugitive and can't get around."

Weinberg had resumed the stand after a verbal clash between Dewey and Defense Counsel Lloyd Paul Stryker had delayed the day's session for one hour and 35 minutes.

record for nonstop flight from Los Angeles to New York.

Then in five years he blazed a trail of records across the United States and Europe that gave him claim to no less than 214 point-to-point records.

A love for aviation led him to far corners of the world, promoting flying. He was an accomplished glider pilot, but was never happier than when at the controls of a speedy ship.

Hawks lived in Redding, Conn., and had planned to return home last night. His wife was notified of the accident and left Redding immediately for Buffalo. Hawks died after she left Redding.

Hawks retired from speed flying a year ago, when he accepted the post with the Gwinn corporation. His announcement followed a crackup at Newark, N. J., shortly after he had made a record-equaling flight from Miami.

Glider Marks

At the time, he explained, "I've had my day. I passed the 40-year mark the other day and I've decided to take a rest now."

Besides his speed records, he had a number of glider marks to his credit. Towed by a plane, he once piloted a glider from the west coast to New York.

Hawks was born in Marshalltown, Iowa, the son of Charles Monroe and Ida Mae Hawks. As a boy in Long Beach, Calif., he used a ruse to reach the airways. He posed as a newspaper reporter, offering publicity to get a ride with a barnstorming flier.

He confessed after he came down, and the pilot permitted him to be a ground assistant.

MovieLand Its People and Products

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — This is a call to all fans to rally 'round and make the Warners do something about Marie Wilson.

You know Marie. She's the beautiful, dumb little blonde. She's played that beautiful, dumb little blonde in movie bits. Now she's played here again—and beautifully—in "Boy Meets Girl." Marie ought to go places fast like a rabbit now.

But you can't tell. The kid ate her heart out for months waiting to hear whether they'd trust her with "Boy Meets Girl." They trusted her finally. Joan Blondell wasn't available. And she worked like ten troupers to make 'em feel they hadn't been heaved into a decision.

She delivered. Marie might get a good follow-up to "Boy Meets Girl," but she's just as likely to be thrown back to the B's.

The Warner's traditionally have little luck developing feminine stars. They lured Ruth Chatterton away from Paramount when Ruth was tops, and when they finished with her Ruth was ready for a comeback. Ditto Kay Francis. Kay's making "Curtain Call" now. That's a new title for the one Bette Davis walked out on—and rightly. It's good enough for Kay, though. Anything to finish up her contract. Well, they have revamped the yarn, somewhat, and it may be better now.

But Bette Davis, queen of the lot nowadays, had to get off the lot to win that crown. After she came back from RKO and "Of Human Bondage" she was a star—but in no time she was fighting her bosses in court. She lost, the studio came back and made him "Marked Woman" and "Jezebel" among them. After "Jezebel" they gave her "Comet Over Broadway" (now "Curtain Call") and Bette wouldn't take it. Took a walk, instead, and suspension. The studio got smart and all is peace again. Bette's making "The Sisters."

Back to Marie Wilson: She ought to have a chance in something bigger. She ought to have a chance, even, to play a beautiful girl who isn't dumb. Maybe she could, maybe she couldn't—but she's earned the right to try.

Marie, for all her sometimes astounding repartee, is dumb like

Long Fight Develops Over Street Lamp, Tree

Pulborough, Eng. — (U) — All it takes to start a row in this town is a street lamp and a tree.

The Pulborough parish council and the Chantebury rural district council have been locking horns for three years over this innocent sounding issue.

Three years ago the parish council erected a street lamp by a tree planted about 18 years before by the rural district council.

The tree's branches soon grew 'round the lamp, partially concealing its light. So the parish council asked that the tree be removed. The rural council refused, pointing out that the tree was there first.

Then the parish council requested that the offending branches be pruned. The rural council refused that, too.

The parish council took an appeal to the ministry of transport—which, however, upheld the rural council.

Neither side has budged since.

Clintonville Post Elects Officers

Milwaukee Woman Suffers Minor Injuries in Crash Near New London

Clintonville — A. V. Chamberlin was elected commander of the American Legion post of this city at its meeting Friday evening in the Knights of Columbus hall. Alfred Manser and Irvin Meldam were chosen senior and junior vice-commanders; Gilbert Buckbee, adjutant, and Eric Peterson, finance officer. Chamberlin will succeed Kenneth Darling as head of the local post. A number of officers remain to be filled by appointment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ewer and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Patterson spent Saturday and Sunday in Milwaukee, where they attended the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dietrich of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zuehlke and son James of Ogdensburg were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Korb. They were accompanied home by their daughters, Shirley and Marion Dietrich, and Betty Zuehlke, who had spent the last week camping at Clover Leaf lakes with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Korb.

Mrs. Victor J. Detjen, 521 N. 34 street, Milwaukee, was badly bruised when the car driven by her husband was involved in a collision with an Oshkosh machine about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon on Highway 45 near the Springvale golf course north of New London. The Detjens were enroute to Clover Leaf lakes north of Clintonville to visit relatives when the accident occurred.

Their car struck the rear of a car driven by Walter J. Thiel, 68 Lincoln avenue, Oshkosh, who was also traveling north and was attempting to make a left turn at an intersection. Detjen had just come up a grade and did not notice the other car turning off the main highway until too late to avoid striking it. The impact threw both cars into the ditch. The Milwaukee machine rolled over. Mrs. Detjen was the only person injured and after receiving first-aid treatment continued on the trip with her husband and son.

Committee Securing Road Rights-of-Way

Part of the route will be through county asylum property, and this land was turned over to the state for the highway last week by the county board. The contract for grading the new section of the highway is expected to be given at the next letting of the state highway department.

Amlic Criticizes 'Pick and Shovel' Methods of WPA

Centuria, Wis. — (P)—Representative Thomas R. Amlic of Elkhorn, candidate for the Progressive United States senatorial nomination, criticized "pick and shovel" work methods of the WPA as inefficiently out of step with modern times, in a campaign address here last night.

"In this streamlined age of ours," he said, "it seems strangely out of place that men should be put to work with pick and shovel on projects that could be done far more efficiently and quickly by machines. We must continue a public works program, but we must employ the workers in a way that is in keeping with modern times."

Amlic, urging an industrial expansion program drafted and administered with federal assistance, declared:

"There is no way out of the dairy farmers' dilemma, no way out of the problem facing the city worker, but to step up production all along the line to a point that will actually see us producing as much of all the necessities of life as our people can use."

Unsettled Jobyna Ralston, former movie actress and wife of Richard Aron, movie player, is at Lake Tahoe, Calif., for "the usual six months' trial separation" from her husband. Hasn't decided about a divorce.

40,000 are Present at Bandshell Dedication

Milwaukee—(P)—Forty thousand persons jammed into Washington park last night for the formal dedication of the $100,000 bandshell given to Milwaukee county by Emil Blatz, son of the founder of the Blatz brewing fortune.

Blatz, 60 years old, spoke briefly, saying:

"If this temple of music gives you as much pleasure as it has given me in donating it, I am fully repaid."

Jessica Dragonette, radio and opera singer, headlined the musical program, assisted by the Wisconsin symphony orchestra of 100 members.

prepared for the National Rural Letter Carriers convention:

"There is a net annual saving of $1,100 to $1,200 when routes that are being served in two or three hours each are put together."

Absorption of nearly 5,000 routes since March 4, 1934, he estimated, has effected an annual saving of about $8,500,000, although rural mail routes have been extended 19,500,000 miles.

Ihlenfeldt Suggests Maximum Wage Law

Milwaukee—(P)—Edward Ihlenfeldt, Democratic candidate for the nomination for governor, today described the wage and hour bill as "smoke-screen legislation" and asked "why not a maximum wage law?"

Ihlenfeldt spoke at the Wisconsin State Fair.

"There was nobody working for less than 25 cents an hour in the state and therefore this (wage-hour) law did not help anyone," Ihlenfeldt said. "What we must do is to limit the salaries in the state to $5,000 a year and we will really be helping the common man."

"If we take $95,000 a year away from a $100,000 a year man, we could give 95 people a $1,000 a year job who are not receiving anything today. . . . Nobody in this state really needs more than $5,000 a year."

Study Protest Against Awarding of Contracts

Washington—(P)—Officials of the general accounting office said yesterday attorneys for the office were studying a protest by the Manitowoc Shipbuilding corporation, Manitowoc, Wis., against award of contracts totalling $779,493 to the Moore Drydock company of Oakland, Calif., for two lighthouse tenders.

The award was made Aug. 18 and the Manitowoc concern protested it should have received the contract for one of the vessels. Officials said the acting comptroller general, Richard N. Elliott, was expected to announce his decision on the protest in a week or two. It was said no comment would be made on the case pending the decision.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH

Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor —dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new. Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities. Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of delighted users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.

POLIDENT Cleans, Purifies Like Magic

Put plate on brush in a glass of water. Add 1/2 tsp. Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse in cold water. Ready to use.

THE CLOUDED MOON By MAX SALT MARSH

The Characters
Hugo Stern, handsome author, living on the French Riviera
Archie Lumsden, myself, Hugo's friend
Rene Geiss, singularly unpleasant but famous cartoonist

Yesterday: Summoned to Palm Beach by O'Donnell, an American detective, Hugo and I see Eve Monet murdered while she is taking part in a mannequin show.

Chapter Four
A Rotten Business
It was extraordinary how quickly the flawless organization of the place asserted itself at the voice of authority. In a flash, it seemed, there was a cordon of waiters holding back the jostling crowd. Two hefty fellows picked up the limp body in the spangled dress while others made a passage for us through the crowd. The manager himself led the way, pausing occasionally to reassure some distinguished patron. "It is nothing," I heard him say to one excited old gentleman. "The poor girl had a sudden heart-attack and fell from the gangway. We hope it is not serious, but we cannot tell until the doctor has made his examination. In the meantime, may I beg Monsieur to use his distinguished influence to calm the other guests?" Half a dozen times during our exit did he pause to spread oil on the still painfully troubled waters, and each time there was an unmistakable lessening of the ferment. Only when we halted in the empty corridor outside did he relax his benevolent calm. He stood aside to let the sinister little cortege pass him, waving us down a smaller corridor. "To my private office, gentlemen," he said sharply. "You will have the goodness to wait in the anteroom while Monsieur le Docteur makes his examination."

I held back a moment and looked round me. The door through which we had passed was guarded by two impassive liveried flunkies. Outside the baccarat room stood a couple of croupiers, saturnine and expressionless. Across the entrance three vast commissionaires were posed like statues. It was abundantly clear that from now on no one could enter or leave the building without permission.

The next minute he had motioned us on, into a small, dignified, discreetly lighted room, and Hugo and I were left alone.

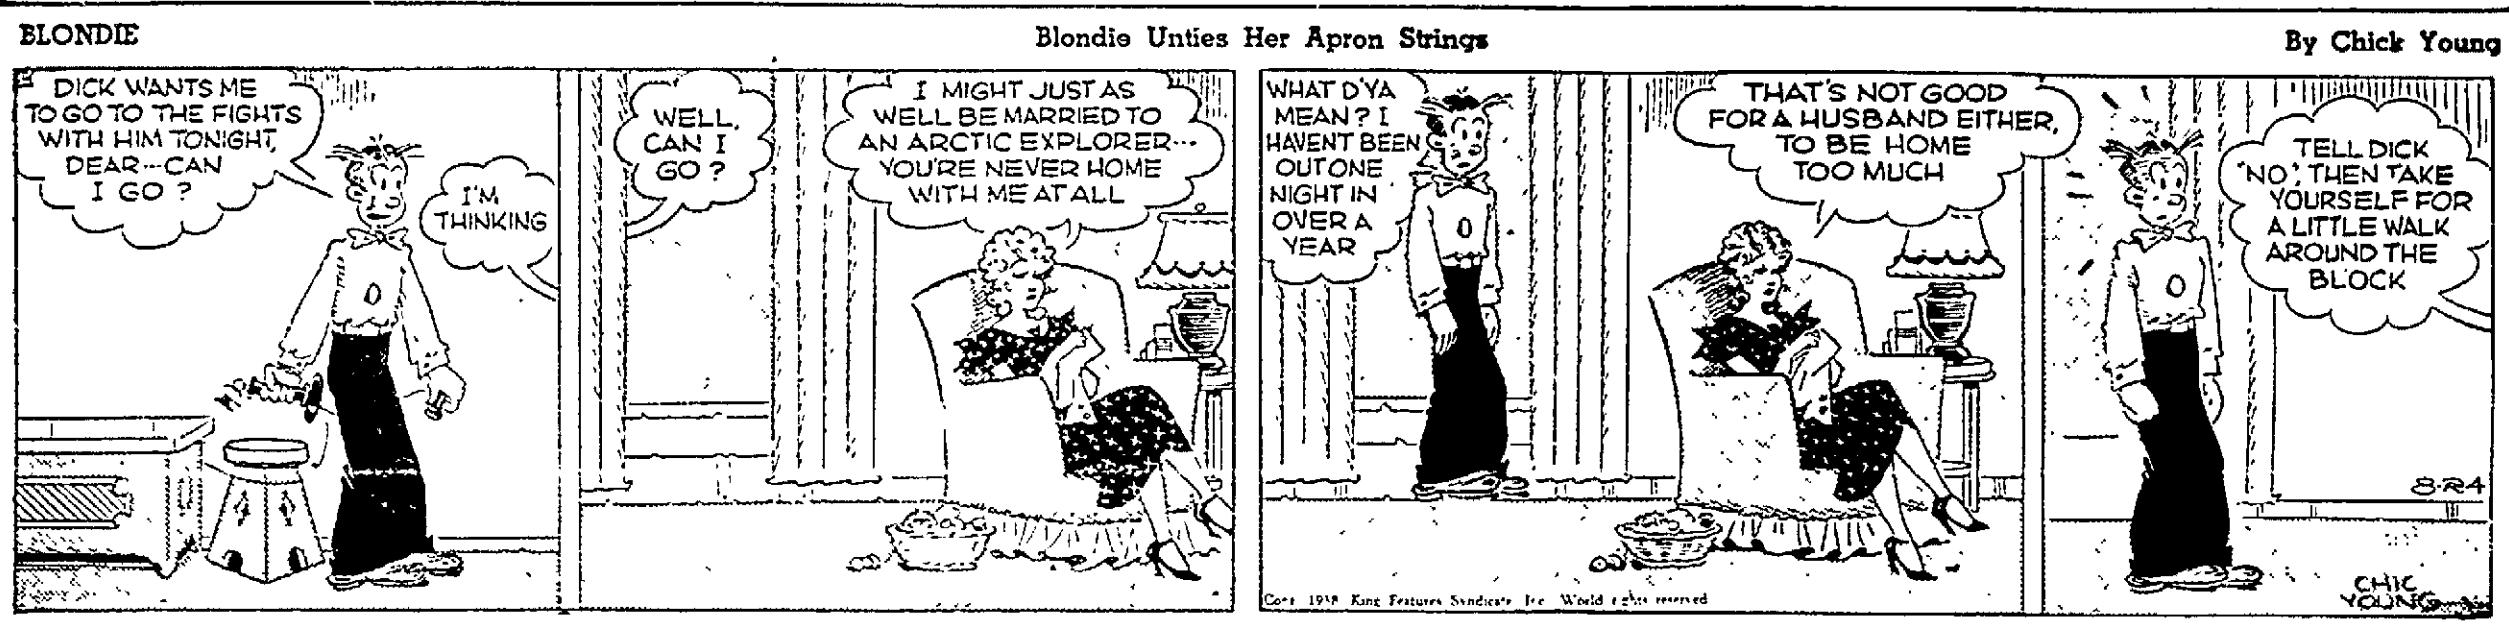

I sat down abruptly on the nearest chair. I had seen a number of men come to violent and painful ends in a variety of places, but I had never before seen a woman die. I was suddenly conscious of a sick feeling in the pit of my stomach and my knees were giving beneath me. "Well, I said to Hugo, 'what d'you make of it?'"

He dropped into a chair opposite me, reached for a decanter and

Steel Mills Hold July Gains; Look For Better Demand

Expect Sharp Increase in Production When Car Assemblies Start

Cleveland—Receiving its principal support from miscellaneous buyers and from structural shape and plate work, activity in steel markets is holding recent gains, according to magazine Steel.

Additional improvement is slight, in contrast to the sharp July rise, by production has edged up 11 points to 41 per cent, and prospects are favorable for better business in some directions next month.

Plates, shapes and reinforcing bars make a relatively better showing than most other products, and their outlook is enhanced by the large number of public projects now pending. Automobile production, still restricted by model changing, will account for heavier shipments of steel next month. Automotive steel buying for 1939 models so far has been light, but substantially larger orders are seen for the coming several weeks.

Automobile production increased sharply last week, due to resumption of Ford operations. Total output by the industry was 23,940 units, highest in three weeks and gain of 10,150 units over the preceding week. Ford produced 11,000 against none the week before. General Motors increased from 9,600 to 10,300; Chrysler dropped from 1,100 to 900; while all other makers curtailed from 2,800 to 1,740.

While the rate of improvement in steel purchases and production has slowed down materially since a month ago, this was more or less anticipated by the industry. Nevertheless, operations thus far in August have risen somewhat more rapidly than could be expected on the basis of the usual seasonal trend for this month. Predictions vary as to the extent of subsequent gains in steel production during the balance of the year, with the automotive industry thought likely to

Liberalize Buying Of Surplus Cabbage

Milwaukee—(AP)—Wisconsin cabbage growers were encouraged yesterday by announcement through Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Fond du Lac that the cabbage buying program of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation had been liberalized.

Duffy late yesterday received a telegram from H. C. Albin, procurement officer for the FSCC, which read as follows:

"Replying your telegram have instructed R. S. Headley, purchasing agent to accept cabbage up to 12 pounds per head. Also plan to purchase substantial increase quantity per day. Believe this change will relieve situation. Appreciate your interest."

Previously, the FSCC has been purchasing cabbage weighing between 2 and 8 pounds per head. Kenosha, Racine, and Milwaukee county farmers petitioned that the weight be increased to permit disposal of a crop surplus suitable for kraut. Smaller heads find a ready market, the farmers maintained.

be the principal factor in determining the trend.

With the steel industry yet to move into the zone of profitable operations, speculation continues regarding possible revisions in wages and prices, or both, in order to alleviate present losses. Consumers generally are satisfied that increases in quotations the balance of the year are unlikely and continue with orders in line with current needs.

Exactly one-half of the 12 leading steelmaking districts contributed to last week's upturn in the national production rate to 41 per cent, highest for the year to date. Chicago operations rose 21 points to 36 per cent; Cleveland gained 2 points to 43 per cent; Buffalo was up 2 points to 44 per cent; Birmingham increased 3 points to 35 per cent; New England expanded 10 points to 50 per cent; and St. Louis rose 5 points to 26 per cent. Other centers were unchanged, including Pittsburgh at 30 per cent, Youngstown at 43 per cent, Wheeling at 54, Cincinnati at 65, Detroit at 52 and eastern Pennsylvania at 30.
